RESTAURANTS IN SANTURCE

Santaella

Steps from Santurce's Farmer's Market is 'La Placita' in San Juan, Puerto Rico. Chef Santaella transforms what used to be his catering workshop and a former hardware store into an architectural acclaimed space committed to offer a menu full of flavor using many local ingredients sourced fresh daily from 'La Placita'. The view of a tropical interior garden serves as the focal point of the main dining area and an abstract artistic wallpaper does the same at the bar area inspired by tropical plants. Santaella celebrates the roots of the island's comida criolla, and incorporates techniques, flavors and fusions from around the world into its food. Santaella will elevate and redefine your Puerto Rican dining experience.

La Casona

From The San Juan Star Venue: Of all of the restaurants in San Juan, La Casona best exemplifies the comfortable ambiance of a gracious home... From first sight, the beautifully restored, old Spanish mansion promises comfort and coddling. There are outdoor gardens for cocktails; the wine cellar, and a brick oven...the only one in Puerto Rico. The restaurant's European decor - arched doorways are framed with dark wood moldings; curved dark-wood chairs are tapestry covered. Spanish plates are displayed on the walls - complements a bilingual menu, which is prepared by a kitchen staff of 10. Caamaño is the executive chef. He checks everything that comes out of the kitchen. His chefs are José Mosquera and Manuel González and the pastry chef is Hermenegild Pérez. He is responsible for creating all of the restaurant's homemade desserts.

Restaurant Description: Restored Spanish mansion with an underground wine cellar and a garden. International and Spanish Cuisine.

Approximate Price per person for a three- four course dinner (including gratuity & tax): $80.00 - $110.00

Asere

Asere is located since 2014 at the heart of iconic and cultural “Placita del Mercado” in Santurce, Puerto Rico. This is the most famous Farmers Market in the island and from where our chefs and bartenders search for daily goods for our menu. The two-story building receives you in a Cuban/ Puerto Rican ambiance with a restaurant that honors Caribbean Cuisine at the first floor and a beautiful speakeasy bar at the second floor, with an exclusive terrace overlooking the “placita” and the action in the streets. “Asere” is a Cuban slang for “my friend”, so we welcome you with this friendly greeting to taste the best of our heritage. Order from traditional Cuban dishes such as Ropa Vieja (shredded flank steak) to fresh local lobster. Amuse yourself tasting our frog legs or go classic with our delicious codfish or red snapper with “boniato” (sweet potato).

Restaurant Description: Caribbean (Specialized in Cuban and Puerto Rican food)
